If a player plays both ways in one specific quarter, that will be counted as two quarters of playing time. Coaches should track playing time effectively enough to assure players get actual playing time in subsequent games.

If there is a second occurrence, both the spotter and head coach will be removed from the game.
- If there is an issue that cannot be resolved between the spotters and/or head coaches, a time-out should be called and the issue should be taken before the Head Official. Neither team will be charged with a time-out as this will be an official time-out.
- If a discrepancy is identified between the spotter form and on-field conditions and it is verified by the head official and scorekeeper using the scorekeepers copy of the spotter form, the head coach of the offending team will be removed from the game.
